

1 Shave your head

Set a target and tell your friends you will shave your head live if the target is reached!

You can also grow a mustache or stop shaving. For every $X donated, it's one more day without shaving...

2 Run your own online masterclass

Do you have a skill that you are particularly good at? Host a masterclass on social media and share your knowledge with your friends! Great way to get everyone occupied!

3 The Everest challenge

Being stuck indoors doesn't mean you can't challenge yourself! Scale the Everest via your staircase! We've done the math for you: that will be 46,568 steps! GO!

5 Fundraising Ideas When You're Stuck at Home

5 Upcycle!

Being home gives you plenty of time to get creative! Collect old objects or materials around your house and sell your inventive creations online!

4 Donate your birthday

Not everyone can afford to stock up on essentials at this time. Make your special day count: ask for donations rather than presents on your birthday to help those who really need it. .

If you're home, the easiest way for you to raise money might be online. You can easily do so by fundraising for us on <https://www.simplygiving.com/nonprofit/friends-international>
